Psychology Honors Program
Motivated psychology students may participate in an advanced program of research culminating in graduation with Honors in Psychology. This program allows students to pursue supervised research or applications of psychology in greater depth than provided in course offerings. Students electing to participate in this program complete all requirements for the Psychology major plus 1 credit of PSYC-396 Junior Honors Seminar, 2 credits of PSYC-496 Honors Seminar and 6 credits of PSYC-499 Honors Research during the two semesters of the senior year. These credits may be in lieu of or in addition to open elective credits used to fulfill the requirements for the Psychology major.

Admission to the Honors Program is based on:

- a. Self-nomination after the Fall Semester of the Junior year with an overall grade point average of 3.20.
- b. Support of an Honors Committee consisting of a faculty sponsor and two other faculty members, one of whom may be from a department other than Psychology. The Honors Committee will review the student's project proposal at the completion of PSYC-396 Junior Honors Seminar.
- c. Completion of at least five psychology courses, including PSYC-251 Psychological Statistics and PSYC-252 Research Methods in Psychology at the time of enrollment in PSYC-396 Junior Honors Seminar.
- d. Enrollment in or completion of an appropriate Advanced Methods course (PSYC-340 Psychological Testing, PSYC-475 Human Psychophysiology, PSYC-480 Advanced Psychological Methods) at the time of enrollment in PSYC-396 Junior Honors Seminar.
- e. The Department will review each student's project proposal at the completion of PSYC-396 Junior Honors Seminar; if they approve it the student is accepted to the Honors Program.

At the end of the senior year, each participant:

- a. Submits a final written report on the Honors work for approval by their Honors Committee.
- b. Presents the results of their work and responds to questions about the project and its relationship to the larger body of psychological knowledge, in a colloquium open to the public.
- c. The student’s Honors Committee votes on whether or not to accept the Honors project.
Students successfully completing all facets of the Honors Program and having an average of 3.20 overall and 3.20 in Psychology will graduate with Honors in Psychology.
